RUSSIA FACES RETIREMENT OF OLD REGIME

Indications Are That Czarism Will Be Restored Under Famine Aid Clock

By NORMAN HAYDON.
Washington, Aug. 11.—French newspapers, notably those inspired by the government, are predicting that relief work in Russia must be tied up with an effort to overthrow the Bolshevik government. Kereval has announced that he is confident that the American government will recognize his claim to be the prime minister of Russia. His assertion is logical. We have been by implication recognizing him as prime minister right along, except for the brief time when we recognized Kereval.

Logically it is impossible for us to recognize Mr. Kereval, and help him to spend for general expenses and propaganda American money hoarded to Kereval to fight against Germany, and not recognize Kereval.

E. S. TAIL TO PARIS KITE.

Logic perhaps had a little burden during the period when Mr. Kereval recognized Kereval as his prime minister. We know that all these principles are merely war-cry to down a Communist movement.

The Russian policy we are little more than a tail to the Paris kite in Paris. Russia is represented by the big tree. Russia, Levi, Malakoff, Suvorov and the Czar.

WAR WITH FRENCH PLAN.

In July the Polish Parliament sanctioned a treaty with Russia containing the clause No. 10.

Poland and Russia undertake to give each other support if either of them is attacked without provocation on its eastern frontier. If either of the two powers is the victim of an unprovoked attack the other shall support to the very last.

Both Poland and Russia are in the sphere of French influence and it will never be difficult to find an unprovoked attack, or a provocation, or an unprovoked assault, when such phenomena fit in with the general French-American plan.

POLE MOVE INS AT RUSSIA.

The intention of the French on larger forces in Russia is aimed in part at Germany, but also without doubt to part at Russia.

And the two things run together in the French government's mind. The French are full of eagerness about Anglo-American plans for business in Russia.

It seems to be a crime, in fact, for Germany to establish a shipping line to Petrograd, just as it is a crime for Great Britain to trust to normal business relations away from the extremes of communism instead of plotting and plotting, like France for an overthrow, or waiting and waiting.

CARTOON TELLS STORY.

In a Vladivostok paper appears a cartoon. The Russian giant is sitting discouraged on the ground, his hands behind his head, and his eyes closed. He is surrounded by a number of small, armed men, who are looking at him with expressions of contempt.

When Burke landed England to take the lead in putting down the French revolution he brought about twenty years of war, forty years of reactionary politics in Great Britain, and a military system that brought about the Crimean War.

JOHNSON DENIES OPPOSITION TO HARDING

California Senator Says, However, He Has Eye on Administration Measures

Washington, Aug. 11.—Emerging from a silence of months, Senator Johnson of California answered the charges that he and other Republican leaders of the so-called "unreconcilables" group are organizing a studied campaign to subvert the administration.

He stated emphatically that he is in no position to say anything about the administration. He is in no position to say anything about the administration.

Another engagement of interest to Bostonians is that of Miss Beulah Brackett of Red House Manor, N. J., to Mr. Henry Harry Cunningham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harris Cunningham of Boston and Pasadena, Cal.

It was while Miss Brackett was visiting her mother, Mrs. C. C. Harwood, at the latter's home in Pasadena that the young couple met. The bride-to-be, who is a graduate of Chevy Chase School, is the daughter of a prominent family of New York and a great-granddaughter of Nathan P. Banks, many years president of Dartmouth College. Although no definite date has been set for the wedding, it is thought that the ceremony will take place in the near future.

No less interesting is the announcement of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Addison Thomas of Hamilton, that their only daughter, Marjorie Abbott Thomas, will become the bride of John Farwell Anderson Davis, son of Judge and Mrs. Charles Thorndike Davis of Brookline and Marblehead, Mass.

Miss Davis, who has received much of her education abroad, is a graduate of Miss Mary's School of Boston. Her fiancé, a Harvard man, served overseas as a lieutenant in the navy, and is now in business in Philadelphia.

He is a member of the Institute of 1776, the D. K. E. Harvard Club of Boston and Wardroom Club. The wedding is scheduled to take place in the spring, upon the return of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas from their tour of the world, where they will spend the winter, as at present.

Berlin Council of War Discusses France and Poland

By International News Service.
Paris, Aug. 11.—L'Homme Libre, the organ of former Premier Clemenceau, stated today that it was in a position to say definitely that a council of war was recently held in Berlin to discuss the ability of Germany to declare war against Poland and France, if the Upper Silesian decision is unfavorable to Germany.

According to the newspaper, President Ebert presided at the meeting, which was attended by a number of cabinet and military officers, including General Ludendorff.

After canvassing the situation thoroughly, it was decided, Germany, it was declared, would not be strong enough to wage war, despite the protests of some of the younger officers.

BOOTLEGGERS MAKE $6,000 ON BARREL OF ALCOHOL

(This is the second of a series of special articles exposing the gigantic, nationwide operations of the bootleggers and allied criminal enterprises. It will be followed by other articles giving more specific facts and figures, based on personal investigation and on official, exclusive information from government sources.)

By W. B. SEABROOK.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Bootleggers, combining "high finance" with crime, are robbing the public wholesale as well as violating the law, according to specific facts disclosed from high official sources at Federal prohibition headquarters here.

By ascertaining all the methods of modern big business—except honesty—they are realizing profits that run as high as $6,000 on a single barrel of alcohol and often from 100 to 1,000 per cent, on a case of whiskey or gin.

The opportunity for enormous gain, and a high official who has closely investigated the national situation, has attracted two big classes of offenders who are now working hand-in-glove together in the widespread distribution and sale of illicit liquor—the criminal in the underworld, and the numerous high classed Wallingfords of high finance.

GET TO GET MEN.

"They are in high places secretly directing gigantic operations which make fortunes for themselves and big money for the thousands of agents and dealers who carry out the details of the trade."

"The biggest and most typical case this department has exposed was the notorious Harry Brozakowski, a power in politics and finance. He was at one time mayor of a California town. He corrupted local officials and Federal agents as well. For months he had practical control of the release of illicit whiskey in the entire State. Witnesses testified that 'territorial rights' were offered for sale. His business was not at all organized as the automobile industry, twenty-five times and never contacted. It was currently reported that he individually cleared more than $1,000,000 in less than ten months."

"In the end we got him. Through the efforts of the government, Brozakowski, the man of wealth and political power, has been convicted of conspiracy and sentenced to the penitentiary. Only one agent in the entire country has been named between him and the actual person who sold."

TWO CHIEF SOURCES.

Amazing detailed information about the methods by which the big drug traffic is carried on, has been secured in the course of this investigation.

The two chief sources are organized syndicates and dishonest middlemen, from bonded warehouses. Hundreds of ships and arriving money boats engaged in the liquor traffic are now lying between the Atlantic coast and the Bahamas. The whole southeastern coast of Florida and the Caribbean is a network of navigable outlets. The trade run is to meet further along and unload direct to trucks which carry the liquor to other warehouses and hiding places.

One big truck route runs through Georgia toward Atlanta. Another winds as far west as St. Louis. In Atlantic City boats have actually unloaded their cargoes. The boats have been off north of Philadelphia. Boston and New York have been stand off outside the three-mile limit.

Claim Captain Admits Landing 1,000 Cases of Whiskey

Philadelphia, Aug. 11.—Customs officers believe that the American fishing schooner Thomson, seized here yesterday on suspicion of violating port regulations, landed one thousand cases of Scotch whiskey in Camden, N. J.

Captain Lewis T. Nippel, government officers say, has admitted this and has given the name of the men to whom the liquor was consigned and the warehouse where it is supposed to have been taken.

From 35 to 510 a gallon and sell it from 10 to 12 a quart.

But their biggest profits are on alcohol. They buy a five-gallon barrel for $25 or $30. Add two barrels of water, a little coloring and flavoring matter, they produce three barrels of whiskey. Putting the 100 in whiskey barrels with counterfeited labels of standard brands, they sell it at top-market prices, and it is by the barrel that bootleggers have been known to clear up to $4,000 to $5,000 in a single barrel of alcohol.

How the Federal agents have exposed and run to earth a big distillery and medicinal wine with fifteen warehouses in the East, and a big factory extra buildings in the Middle West, will be described tomorrow.

U. S. S. CALIFORNIA PLACED IN COMMISSION

Vallejo, Calif., Aug. 11.—The battleship California was placed in commission at the Mare Island Navy Yard yesterday. The keel of the ship, the first dreadnaught to be turned out by the navy yard, was laid October 25, 1916. All work on the ship and the hull was completed during the war in given precedence to the building of destroyers. She was launched November 29, 1919. The battleship is the eighth one built at the yard.

First and vegetable stoves to be a frequent occurrence. A whole freight car full of apples, which was recently shipped from Florida, was found in Chicago, recently offered up with tomatoes. Federal authorities are said to have recently seized a freight car loaded with cabbage and other garden vegetables, which was found to be filled with cases of whiskey put up for sale.

The local retailer is frequently a man who conducts at the same time a business in the liquor traffic. He may be a grocer, a butcher, a produce dealer, a broker—anything. Sometimes he hides his whiskey in his place of business. Sometimes he conceals it in his home.

If he is one of the "successful" retail bootleggers his methods are totally different from those of the ordinary "low-down" dealer. He is a "modern business man." He takes his "rough" taking orders. He has regular clients. He knows his trade. He also takes orders from hotel clerks, waiters, elevator men, taxicab and truck drivers—sometimes mistaken for legitimate business with carry home as "the law."

SALES TO RESTAURANTS.

In places where the local law are lax, the Jersey City at this moment is the most flagrant example in the East. The shipper also sells direct to saloons and restaurants which dispense liquor openly over their counters and in basins. The local dealer is often a man of 50 and even higher for a single drink.

The profits which are divided between the retailer and wholesaler are enormous. They get whiskey

LET CONFIRMED DRUNKARDS DIE, SAYS SURGEON

Major Haigns Thinks World Will Be Better Off Without Them

Major W. F. Haigns, attendance surgeon of the First Corps Area, who has seen much service in the field in France, strongly advocates letting confirmed drunkards die.

He took this position when asked whether he agreed with some Boston physicians who would let down the law against light wines and beer.

This medical officer says he has seen as much of the evil of liquor in foreign countries that he doesn't want the prohibition laws modified and do not let them drag down the rest of us to their point of view," said Major Haigns.

"Prohibition is necessary. We want normal people and when any one gets under the influence of liquor he wants to get under its influence permanently. It is better that a million were hanged about his neck and he were cast into the depths of the sea."

"Drinking liquor does no good. It has no medicinal value. If people have to drink intoxicating liquor, let them drink enough to finish them. It is just normal human beings, and the only way that we can protect this is through prohibition. The survival of the fittest is not through liquor drinking."

555 MILLION CUT IN YEARLY TAX TOTAL

All Important Changes in 1918 Law Finished; Bill Goes to Conference Monday

Washington, Aug. 11.—Practically all of the important changes proposed to be made in the 1918 tax law have been agreed upon tentatively by the majority members of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Some minor revisions are in contemplation and when a final agreement is had, all changes in the physical rewriting of the law will be taken up. When they are completed, the committee will make ready for consideration by the Republican conference Monday.

The net reduction in the yearly tax total as a result of the committee's work yesterday was estimated at $555,000,000, with a total internal revenue income for the government of $2,119,000,000. Losses in revenue were roughly estimated as follows:

LOSSES IN REVENUE.

Spent of the excess profits tax and higher income sur-tax brackets, $500,000,000.

Elimination of the freight and passenger tax, $100,000,000.

Reduction of the corporation tax, $15,000,000.

Decrease of the exemption allowed

Canada Sends Werner Horne Back to His Native Land

Montreal, Aug. 11.—Werner Horne, German reservist, who was adjudged insane while serving in a sentence in a federal prison for attempting to dynamite the railway bridge near McAdam Junction, was sent back to Germany on the steamship Poland.

Horne spent nearly two years in prison in Canada.

Heads of departments from $100 to $100 for each dependent in $100,000.00. Removal of the wearing apparel, furniture and ice cream and stamp duty on toilet preparations and proprietary medicines, $18,000,000.00.

Increased revenue figured upon included $182,700,000 from the 10 per cent. increase in the income taxes of corporations and $54,000,000 from manufacturers' taxes on fountain, sprayer, articles, proprietary medicines, toilet beverages and drugs.

$230,000,000 REDUCTION.

Treasury experts had prepared today for presentation to the committee revised estimates on government income and expenditures. According to these figures agreed upon by the committee, Treasury agent Edward President Harding, Secretary Mellon and Republican leaders of the House. These included reductions of $230,000,000 in the estimated expenditures for this year.

Rep. Stephen Duggan explained that it was not proposed to reduce actual appropriations made by Congress for this year, but to accomplish this by the elimination of the estimated balances held by the various departments.

Westfield Man Has Wife Arrested After She Fled With Youngsters

Westfield, Aug. 11.—Charles with a disfigurement in refusing to surrender his two children in the custody of their father, Joseph Bana, a Southfield farmer, Mrs. Bana was arraigned in district court here today. Bana has been attempting to obtain possession of the children since July 17, when, according to the story told the police, they were taken from him by Mrs. Bana, Samuel Bana, a cooper and a number of other men, who forced their way into the home, assaulted him and carried off the children.

Bana says that later he learned his wife, the children and Bana, had gone to Woodbridge, Ct. and obtained their arrest there by the New Haven police.

Later they were released. Bana, Mrs. Bana and the children, after several days search Bana told the authorities he had found the children and their mother in Bana, Conn. Bana was taken to the police station and the father went there and demanded the children. Mrs. Bana explained that she had been told that before the ages of the women athletes and others can be definitely ascertained, it may be necessary to employ a physician.

The union has a total membership of approximately 15,000, more than 12,000 of whom are employed in the shoe industry.

Agreement to Run Until May 1 Signed Without Resort to Arbitration

Haverhill, Aug. 11.—Virtuality the same wages paid shoe workers for the last two years will be continued under an agreement running until May 1 of next year, which has been concluded between the conference committee of the shoe workers' protective union and the Haverhill shoe manufacturers' Association, composed of sixty of the largest shoe firms of the city.

Negotiations began between the union and the association more than three months ago and were settled without resort to arbitration.

Joseph Crockett, general agent of the union today, declared that the price list had "undergone some slight readjustment." He estimates that the turn finishers will receive the same wages they have been getting for two years.

The 400 McKay stockholders also will receive virtually the same wages they have been getting.

It is believed that that before the wages of the women athletes and others can be definitely ascertained, it may be necessary to employ a physician.

Father Alleges Daughter Has Been Kept in Hiding Since July 23

By International News Service.
Providence, R. I., Aug. 11.—A court order directing Tony Russo, of Watertown, N. H., to produce sixteen-year-old Bessie Abramowitz in court on next Tuesday was issued by Superior Judge John H. Hahn at the request of the girl's father, Harry Abramowitz, of
No. 210 Harvard street, Malden, Mass., who declared he had not seen her since July 23.

According to Abramowitz, the girl went to South Boston, who is now under her last spring. Bessie, her father says, took her to Philadelphia, where he lives in the winter, and later brought her to his summer home in Watch Hill, where he conducts a bar-

No Peace for Greeks in Asia Minor, Win or Lose

London, Aug. 11.—There is no sign of peace in Asia Minor regardless of the outcome of the Greek offensive.

The allies have decided to allow the Greeks and Turks to fight it out without outside intervention.

If the Greeks fail to rout the forces under Mustafa Kemal Pasha, they must submit to long, drawn-out guerrilla warfare, with the Turks harassing their long lines of communication for months to come.

The Turks have already suffered a series of reverses and are giving up their capital—Ankara—but the main body of the Kemalist army is still virtually intact.

FIGHT AMMONIA FUMES WITH GAS MASKS

Manchester Firemen Boldly
Grapple With Deadly Effluvia
by War Methods

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 11.—There was a reminder of the World War for members of the Manchester Fire Department when a squad from the Fire King, West Manchester, protected by gas masks battled a blaze in the Conn Ice Cream Company factory on Granite street, which started when the packing in the ammonia plant blew out.

The deadly fumes blew the quading but the smoke-exits did not. Men took to go into it, sure they had offected the head pieces with which the apparatus in the different companies of the city is equipped.

Horned and Winged "Devil" Dug Up in Tennessee

by Associated Press.
Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 11.— Further information as to the perished body of gigantic proportions found near Helenwood, in Scott County, Tennessee, was received here today.

Cruise Captain of Helenwood found the "devil," as he calls it, on July 29 while prospecting for coal. The formation was five feet under ground. It weighed something like 500 pounds.

The freak is described as having a head of abnormal size, adorned by horns resembling those of a ruminant. Its mouth is of unusual size, with twenty-four prominent front teeth.

The arms are long, with enormous hands. A chain, resembling an ordinary trace chain, encircled the neck. Long wings of brownish color reach from the shoulders almost to the ankles.
Scales beneath the object may be an image left by an old tribe of Indians or other dwellers.

START FUND FOR CRIPPLED WAR VETERAN

Rally to His Relief

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 11.—The ill Blair, who has been in the World War he entered in the British forces and went over to fight the Germans, had thirty-five times during the conflict Blair was wounded. Twice the best of his German captives and him and his wife in hospital for months. Each time he would back up as the doctors would permit, to continue doing his job.

Then he came home, bringing with him a promise, made to a dying sister, to care for that sister's wife and children. To carry out that promise he married the widow.

With the little money he was able to raise, and despite the crippled arm and leg, Blair started farming at Dummer.

But his fortune was not through with him. Tuesday fire broke out in one of his farm buildings, spread to his home and threatened the lives of his wife and children. Blair braved death again, as he had so often "over There," and carried the youngsters to safety.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

By Frieda Davis

WHEN the movies were something out of the ordinary and still in more or less of an experimental stage, they turned to the footlights of Broadway for their players. The fabulous salaries—and not all of them originated in the fertile brain of extravagant press agent—lured more than one stage favorite to try his hand at the silent drama. Some of these recruits were successful, others not.

Today the screen players have very nearly all their own, and women who have never appeared "on the boards," or, if they have, played small parts for a short while, "make a name" for the screen is not always "made" for the stage. And today the players are making a slow but certain pilgrimage back to Broadway.

Doris Kenyon, an actress who, after a leading lady for other stars, returned to the stage after a year ago and has played there practically steadily ever since. Bonnie Bartlett, a headstrong star from Hollywood, who she has made her name for several years, and will make a public bow in a New York theatre in "The Whirl" a comedy written especially for her by her husband, Howard Hickman. "Princess" Patricia, who has been approached this morning for star parts, and who during the coming theatrical season and Miss Ferguson, for one, is seriously considering them.

Madame Schmalzer will probably give an Italian repertoire, the famous Lillian and Dorothy, will appear on Broadway, the former with Arnold Daly's company at the Greenwich Village Theatre, and the latter with her husband in "The Blue Flame." Miss Kennedy will be seen again, this time in "The Blue Flame." Miss Kennedy will be seen again, this time in "The Blue Flame."

THE GREAT DIFFICULTY seems to be the financial one. Miss Mearns, Mr. Edwards, the producer, and who speak English, "the tramp" in French. "The only thing we have in common in the way of talking," Miss Mearns states, "is that we all laugh and sneeze alike!"

THE NEW D. CLARK, pastor of the First Universalist Church of Birmingham, Alabama, thought he had an inspiration when he decided to show the Cosmopolitan picture, "The Inside of the Cup," adapted from Winston Churchill's novel, after his sermon on Sunday. His congregation thought so. The only difficulty was that Mr. Clark, unversed in the ways of theatre managers, failed to get the proper papers to show the film. Although the performance was a highly successful one, and the congregation felt that they had the ideal church, it was afterward that the storm arose. The commissioner of public safety in Birmingham is having his hands full trying to deal justice to the minister and to pacify an indignant congregation who are upholding their minister.

PRISCILLA DEAN'S NEXT. DOROTHY HUGHES, who has been heard at various times, "Oscar" will take a week's vacation while the film is being shot and out then will hurry back to the "lot" to start in on the screen adaptation of Cynthia Stockley's story, "Wild Honey."

ANOTHER FILM MARRIAGE. "THE DEW OF THE FIRM" play-ers to sign a contract to play a domestic lead for life in Betty Granger, who is seen as the "singer" in many of the pictures that come out of the West.

Miss Carpenter was married to a man named Axelstrom—first name spelled with a "t"—last week. Further details of the wedding have not been given yet. The only information we can get is that Miss Carpenter will continue playing in Famous Players-Lasky pictures.

FRANK BOZGAZE, whose name stands out on film, since his work in "Humorist" and who has just finished "The Quick and the Dead," and "Back Pay" for Cosmopolitan, is leaving for the West coast after an absence of two years. In California he will start his own producing company.

CINE TALKED work on the Emerson-Low story. Nothing has yet been said for Canada for a short vacation. Supporting Miss "Lillian" in the picture are Kenneth Harlan, Frank Lator, George Foxworth, Sir Nold and Thelma Maxwell-Chover.

MAID WANTS REVENGE FOR DECEPTION BY HER GIRL "FIANCE"

Acting By Radio!

VIRGIN FLIES!
White will be one of the most fashionable colors for this fall, and this blue blouse of white canvas de Chine is one of the new popular models. Collar, cuffs and inserts are of white batiste with navy eyelid embroidery. Simplicity is the keynote of the latest blouse models, with gaudy tints declassé. An exclusive Boston American sewing fashion.

BE CAREFUL, CECIL!

Cecil, brother of Cecil, who defeated the American champion, Miss Alana Strong, will lead for Aug. 29 in an effort to score the title here. "See that you don't lose your own, Cecil, dear."

"MANNERS' LITTLE VOICES" These words from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" were heard over the radio shows at the Strand Theatre, London. The actors gave their performance in the Marconi laboratory and every voice situation was registered miles away. Photo shows a part of the "audience" listening to the performance at the Strand. The entire play was given in this manner. Most novel performance ever heard. (U. & U.)

WESLEY MAY of Long Beach, Cal., says he crashed his bus in midair when engine "went dead." Gosh, that's going some, say our auditors. Wesley is showing how he did it. (W. W.)

THE de laudat guy in town (right). Ain't he good at holdin' de fashin' line when you can let your toe do the work. Taken at Tidal Basin, Washington. (W. W.)

UNREPEATABLE! In the trained hands of Mrs. C. L. Redmond of N. Y., hadant was unobtainable at the jumps at Stamford, Ct. Horse Show, held on Samuel Taylor's farm. This wonderful horse has never been known to fail its driver. In approaching the bars he rather himself up and slides over gracefully. (U. & U.)

ANOTHER MIRACLE MAN! However, Brother Isaiah, as he calls himself, has the good grace to charge nothing for his "healing" services. He is creating a sensation at Venice, Cal., where thousands crowd daily to visit him. Many declare they have been cured by the patriarch. Faith, he declares, is all that is necessary to become cured. Photo conveys impression of large crowds seeking cures. (U. & U.)

EVERY ONE A COMING CHAMP! If, at first glance, you get the impression that is a bathing suit line or a bread rack or a Reverse Beach car tangle, you are mistaken. It's an average Sunday morning crowd waiting to play on the municipal tennis courts in Central Park, N. Y. A tennis wave has swept the country and both Boston and New York courts are daily crowded with future Tildens and Longlens. Boston, however, hasn't the excellent courts for its athletic citizenry that New York provides. This photo was taken at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. Get that—SUNDAY morning. Guess that proves tennis is popular there. (U. & U.)

MARY E. BROWN who was her match yesterday at Seabright, N. J., will give Miss Longlen, French "ace," her hardest battle, say the experts. They meet on Aug. 18. (U. & U.)

CAPT. BIRRELL, 34, (left), who learned dressmaking while recovering from wounds, is now one of London's most popular blouse makers. Shown embroidering blouse in his workroom. (W. W.)

ALICE ELDRIDGE (left) is one of the star divers at the Boston American water carnival, Charles River Basin, Aug. 27. Don't fail to see her.

MAGIC! Miss Pe (above) of Ajaccio, Corsica, France, humbled hundreds of native beauties in the recent contest. Won by 50,000 votes. Has olive complexion and large violet eyes. (U. & U.)

SAND WITCHERY! Miss Rita Garity lost her charm to the sands of Nantux last the other day—with this result. Very soon the sand witches will put away their magic wands and go back to farm and urban life. Packing away the old one suit is most balls is heart-breaking after a season of gaudy. If the weather doesn't get warmer the mermaids at the northern New England resorts will soon be meeting for bathing suits. (U. & U.)

MARY HOLDOWANETZ of N. Y. (above), despite her smiles, is crying her eyes out because she has learned that her "fiance" was a gull. (U. & U.)

LOVE MUST BE A WONDERFUL THING! Behold Mrs. Smith Wilkinson and her third hubby, a toothsome young buck of prepossessing appearance. Mrs. Wilkinson, who spends money faster than Ned Gourdin can run, is almost twice as old as her young husband. (U. & U.)

Chinook Salmon at the Mohawk

MANY fine big fish are being caught and sold at the Mohawk. The fish are fresh and delicious.

The beauties he catches are coral pink inside. The body is firm and straight—the color is "right," and the eyes are bright.

BRAVES BACK AMONG OLD FOLKS ONCE AGAIN

By NICK FLATLEY.

Philones of the faith are beginning to crawl in over the baseball season. The Braves back from an even division with the Western team, started their last game of the year on Braves Field in a game won 1-0 by the Braves. The Braves held their own in the game, but the pitcher, a month and a few days in the hospital, then they stepped out and won the campaign on their last day.

Despite slumps of a few days, there's a lot of faith in the Braves. They're a team that's been in the game for a long time, and they're a team that's been in the game for a long time.

Three Braves are a wonderful combination. They're a team that's been in the game for a long time, and they're a team that's been in the game for a long time.

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By E. C. Forbes

Were I asked to name the most brilliant banker America has produced this century, I would undoubtedly reply it is P. Morgan.

After having lived and prospered from business for a full year, it was announced Tuesday that this able financier in America had been called upon to perform a very critical operation.

How did this young American, possessing an inheritance in enjoying the unusual education, quality as the foremost banking giant of the younger generation? Who did the late P. Morgan spot Davison, then and there, as an ideal man for his firm? In other words, what is the explanation of Davison's phenomenal success?

His mother died when he was seven years old. Henry Pomeroy was born in 1867, at Troy, Pa. There was no money for a college education, he had to go to a boarding school. One of his classmates, Charles H. Sabine, now president of the Connecticut Trust Company, told me:

"Harry Davison was at the top of every class he entered. He was very popular because every morning he used to let the class know what answers to problems and other stuff given the night before. He was willing to help a fellow out. During vacation he would come for a brief stop to teach a class."

Ambitious, he landed New York. He tramped street after street looking for a job, but nobody wanted him. He finally landed at Bridgport, Ct. by working before and after bank hours, he found time to study. When the bookkeeper died of the bank, he succeeded him. The new bookkeeper immediately began to teach the other boys how to keep a book. He set himself to learning all that he could.

Said Mr. Davison to me: "Then and ever since I have found, I read, studied, and only then did I learn the work of the man ahead of you, but I kept your job to the whole below you."

Davison had fixed New York as his goal. So when he read that a new bank was being organized, he contrived to get a letter to the cashiers, and then he went to the bank, and he was there. He had made up his mind to lead the job of making letters. The cashiers explained that it was out of the question to employ a man who was utterly unknown in the city for this responsible position. On his way home, Davison decided to write. Next afternoon he again tackled the cashiers. Again he was turned down. But Davison was not to be licked. He returned the third afternoon and told that the third cashier had gone home. Ascertaining where he had gone, Davison invaded the cashier's home and caught him out laughing when he saw the determined banking youth.

Growing with enthusiasm and unceasing determination, Davison wrote these words: "I know I am the man you want for pay, and I will help you. I feel embarrassed at having to say so, but I am sure it is no one to say it for me. Give me the position and I will try to make you never regret it. He was engaged."

Six months later Davison's motive was dramatically demonstrated. He pointed a revolver at Teller Davison's head, brandishing a gun worth thousands of dollars drawn to the door of the Albany Trust Company. Davison coolly took the check, read it out very loudly to attract attention, and then he turned to the cashier. His loud words had caused the bank detective to come running and standing behind the man who was checked was a revolver.

The directors of the Liberty National Bank were meeting that day, and when the holdup was mentioned a director suggested that Davison be the kind of help they should have in their bank. Engaged as a cashier, he rose step by step to the presidency before he was thirty. Here is one of the sidelights on how Davison made his mark with the Liberty Bank. He procured a full list of the bank's shareholders, mostly business men, visited each of them, and addressed them on this fashion: "You own shares of the Liberty National Bank. Of course you would like to see the bank prosper. Well, now, want you 175 to 200 shares of the bank? I will treat them right—and the business will be an increased dividend."

The bank's growth made new quarters necessary. Davison wanted to leave the old quarters but Davison was afraid that a good many business men would continue to go to the old address. So he decided to try to get the business to come to the new place. He did. Today it is the second largest trust company in America, enjoying a reputation and record not exceeded by any institution in this country. This is because, of course, the Bankers' Trust Company, which Mr. Davison has been the most influential director.

When the panic of 1907 was raging so disastrously that it bowed over big and little financial institutions and other business concerns, the late P. Morgan, who assumed the role of commander-in-chief, found Mr. Davison the ablest lieutenant of them all. The following year he received a summons to meet Mr. Morgan in the morning. Mr. Morgan opened the conversation with these words: "Do you realize it is the first of January?" The young bank-

STOCKS DRAGGED BY DIFFERENCE

Evans Says American Public is Asleep to Chances for Careful Investment

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Indifference in overlooking all the market from the stock market, American investors have been asleep to the chances for careful investment. The market has been dragged down by the difference between the market and the public's perception of the market.

Such a case appeared in the market, the market was dragged down by the difference between the market and the public's perception of the market.

It is a pity that stocks which have had a virtuous life these many years, and which have been the backbone of the market, were the ones that were the most active.
